

Norwest Foods International Ltd

Modern Slavery Statement

(April 2019 – March 2020)

Objective: Norwest Foods International Ltd is committed, both at a board level and throughout the business, to protecting and promoting the human rights and basic freedoms of all its employees. Further to this commitment, we refuse to work with any suppliers or prospective businesses which we have reason to consider may exploit humans, in an unfair and unjust manner.

Procedure: Norwest Foods International Ltd is strongly opposed to the use of modern slavery, or any forms of cruel, inhumane or degrading punishments which may be used to control or restrict people's freedom of thought, conscience or religion.

This Modern Slavery Statement applies to all employees working for, and behalf of, Norwest Foods in any capacity. This includes, directors, managers, supervisors, administrators and assistants within the business, officers, along with sub-contractors and consultants.

We are committed to implementing systems and controls aimed at ensuring that modern slavery is not taking place within our organisation or in any of our supply chains. We also expect that our suppliers will adhere to the same high standards as our business is committed to. This is verified through SAQs and supplementary declarations which are signed and dated.

Employee Rights: Norwest Foods International Ltd is committed to compliances with all relevant human right legislation and regulations.
